

Options for Creating Families

(date to be announced) 6:30-8:00 pm

900 Welch Road, suite 200

Stanford Fertility and Reproductive Medicine Center

Cost: $26/couple or $16/person

This special event will focus on learning about the different options for family building, including:

- Ovum Donation
- Sperm Donation
- Adoption
- Surrogacy

Meet and listen to the journey from women and couples that have chosen these paths. The evening is designed to help patients contemplating 3rd party reproduction to embrace optimism and learn more about what is involved in the various avenues for family building.

Formal presentation will be made by:

Penny Donnelly, LMFT, RN, director of support programs at Stanford's Fertility and Reproductive Medicine Center, has developed and led a number of counseling and health education programs for patients seeking fertility treatment. She offers private counseling to clinic patients and facilitates support groups for primary, repeat pregnancy loss, and 3rd party reproduction clients. In addition, Penny leads and facilitates an innovative mind/body medicine program that has been nationally recognized.

To register, please email Penny Donnelly at pdonnelly@stanfordmed.org or call her at 650-723-6408.
